

pension plans. This grossly inadequate level of wages and benefits for childcare staff has led to difficulties in attracting and retaining quality caretakers and educators. As a result, the turnover rate for childcare providers is 30 percent a year. This high turnover rate interrupts consistent and stable relationships that children need to have with their caregivers.

If we want our children cared for by qualified providers with higher degrees and more training, we will have to make sure they are adequately compensated. Otherwise, we will continue to lose early childhood educators with BA degrees to kindergarten and first grade, losing some of our best teachers of young children from the early years of learning.

In order to bring attention to childcare workers, I am sponsoring a resolution that would designate May as National Child Care Worthy Wage Day. On May 1 each year, childcare providers and other early childhood professionals nationwide conduct public awareness and education efforts highlighting the importance of good early childhood education.

I encourage my colleagues to join me in recognizing the importance of the work and professionalism that childcare workers provide and the need to increase their compensation accordingly. The Nation's childcare workforce, the families who depend on them, and the children they care for, deserve our support.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the resolution and preamble be agreed to, en bloc, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and that any statements relating to the resolution be printed in the RECORD, without intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 137) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. RES. 137

Whereas approximately 14,000,000 children are in out-of-home care during part or all of the day so that their parents may work;

Whereas the turnover rate of early-childhood educators is approximately 30 percent per year because low wages and a lack of benefits make it difficult to retain high-quality educators;

Whereas research has demonstrated that young children require caring relationships and a consistent presence in their lives for their positive development;

Whereas the compensation of early-childhood educators should be commensurate with the important job of helping the young children of the United States develop the social, emotional, physical, and intellectual skills they need to be ready for school; and

Whereas resources may be reallocated to improve the compensation of early-childhood educators to ensure that quality care and education are accessible for all families;

Whereas the Center for the Child Care Workforce and other early childhood education organizations recognize May 1st as

National Child Care Worthy wage Day: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(2) calls on the people of the United States to observe National Child Care Worthy Wage Day by—

EXPRESSING SUPPORT FOR WITHDRAWAL OF RUSSIAN TROOPS FROM GEORGIA

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. Res. 139 submitted earlier today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 139) expressing support for the withdrawal of Russian troops from Georgia.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, on April 9, 1991, the Republic of Georgia declared its independence from the Soviet Union. Later that December, it was formally recognized by the international community as a sovereign and independent nation.

Throughout the Cold War, the Soviet Union stationed troops and maintained military bases in many of the republics and countries along its border. When the Soviet Union collapsed in 1991, most of these forces withdrew to Russia and former Soviet military bases were closed.

Today, however, more than a decade after obtaining its independence, Georgia has not been able to rid itself of the Russian military presence. Several years ago, Russia pledged to withdraw its military personnel and close its military bases in Georgia. However, Russia has failed to fulfill its commitments. More than 3,000 Russian troops are still present in Georgia.

It is time for these forces to leave. I urge Russia's leaders to respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Georgia, to fulfill its obligations, and work with Georgia's leaders to end its military presence there.

In November 2003, the people of Georgia demonstrated their desire to free themselves of the bonds of foreign domination.

They peacefully protested fraudulent elections and succeeded in installing a government committed to democracy, human rights, and the rule of law. The Rose Revolution was a triumph for freedom and has truly been an inspiration to us all.

Georgia's President Mikheil Saakashvili and the Government and people of Georgia have exhibited steadfast determination in their efforts to regain their sovereignty and protect their new democracy.

The United States should continue to support the Georgian people as they work to strengthen their democratic institutions and end Russia's military presence.

I applaud President Bush for his recent visit to the Georgia Republic. And I wholeheartedly support his commitment to the spread of freedom and democracy in the states of the former Soviet Union.

President Saakashvili and the people of Georgia deserve deep admiration for their extraordinary accomplishment. I
